Hey!!! You made it over here. Welcome!

Now let's talk about that thing you've been carrying around inside of you—the story, the lesson, the experience, the knowledge, or the message you know could make a difference in someone else's life. Maybe you've thought about writing a book. Maybe you've already published one. Or perhaps you've been waiting for the right opportunity to put your voice in a room where more people can hear it. Whatever your journey looks like, I want you to know there is room for you here.

Sometimes we get so busy doing the work, showing up for others, building our businesses, leading teams, and navigating life that we don't stop to recognize just how much we have to offer. We keep saying, "One day, I'm going to share that story," or "I really need to do something with my experiences." Well, what if this is your moment to stop putting it off?

This collaborative publishing opportunity is an invitation to bring your voice, perspective, and expertise to the table. You don't have to have everything figured out, and you certainly don't have to be an established author to belong. You simply need something meaningful to contribute and a willingness to let others experience it.

And let's be honest: sometimes the next step in our growth comes from being in the right room, connecting with the right people, and giving ourselves permission to be seen in a different way.

I would love for you to be part of this experience. Not because you need another thing on your to-do list, but because what you have to share deserves thoughtful consideration.

Your journey is still unfolding, and there is no reason you cannot make this next chapter one of the most meaningful ones yet.

So, pull up a chair. There's room at this table for your voice, too!

Simene' Walden, The Student Teacher

Your Voice. Your Story. Your Influence.

More than a e-book.

What and Why a Book Anthology?

An anthology is defined as a collection of selected literary pieces, passages, or works of art or music. In other words, several writers come together to share a part of their story in one book.

This is a book anthology that will allow you to share a selected piece of your history with an audience who has been waiting to hear how you made it out of what they are currently in.

Imagine being the prescription to someone else's pain, shame, and guilt, yet you are overdosing on your own story because you have refused to release it. In 2027, it is time for you to understand that what you have been through is a lighthouse and beacon of hope for someone else going through.

Psalm 40:7 declares, "Then said I, Lo, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me". This will be one of the books written of you where you share part of your life and story transparently and honestly.

The perfect occasion comes when you make ordinary moments happen. Consider this your perfect occasion, but you must act intentionally now.

It's okay not to know how to do something, but it is not okay not to try.

Don't Delay or Miss This Opportunity

Delay is an enemy to destiny and you have to take massive action now on the thing you said you wanted and were going to do.

There are people who are seemingly moving forward but still have not moved on. It's time to move forward and move on.

Procrastination is an adversary of progress, purpose, and prosperity.

This book anthology will allow you to share part of your story with other individuals on the road to publishing, sharing, and becoming an author. This is the opportunity many of you have known you needed and for some, have not known you needed but it is here and now is your time to unmute, unmask, and tell your own story.

This anthology will allow you to connect with others and create newly formed relationships with individuals from all walks of life from all different parts of the world.

Whether you are starting out as an author for the first time in an anthology or publishing again as a co-author, you will not go through this process alone. Each opportunity is always different and this will be one you have never experienced and will not forget.

This opportunity has a built-in support system of individuals who will be cheering you on along the way and a writing coach leading and guiding you. Simene' Walden, The Student Teacher, does not just help you publish your story, she helps you carry your story.
